"In essence JestGreen offers a "Why so serious?" approach to food and life." #chefv

Healthier food and environmental consciousness have an image of being overly serious, boring, tasteless and joyless. JestGreen wants to change that impression by modernizing the mobile industry and providing deliciously decadent but healthier food that's socially conscious through the creation of a fun, whimsical and lighthearted experience. JestGreen aims to delight their guests in mind, body and spirit while showing that "healthier" can be a fun, decadent and joyful experience too.

Integrity

We are committed to always doing what is right. We behave according to the values and principles of JestGreen and we stand for honesty and trust in everything we do.

Passion

We have a love for food & tech and want to share that love with everyone else. We are enthusiastic about serving our users and we are dedicated to ensuring their well-being through the consumption and use of our products.

Pride

It gives us great pleasure to be part of the JestGreen family. It gives us enormous satisfaction to work for such a progressive company and to provide our users with genuine and attentive service.

Respect

We esteem and have high regard of all our colleagues, our users and the environment at large, we show them our respect in the way we treat them with consideration and dignity. We show love.

Individuality

Each and every one of us is unique and we are proud to let all the good and positive aspects of our character shine in our work - this is what makes us special. At all times our individuality is both unique and refined. You go with your bad one of a kind ass.

Our Culture

People Matter

Teamwork

We trust and respect each other; therefore, we can work well together. We help and assist one another, no matter what position we hold. We are all a part of the JestGreen family in always pull together to provide our users with the best level of service that we can give.

Consistency

We are reliable and dependable, and we will make sure to always provide the same standard of service, no matter if we you are experiencing JestGreen for the first time or for the hundredth time.

Attention to Detail

We understand that the key to quality service is doing little things correctly, all the time, every time, so that each action produces a quality result. When every detail is lovingly attended to, and each step in the process is given complete and careful attention, the end result inevitably will be of the highest quality.

Health Consciousness

We all know how to keep healthy - what foods to eat, what exercise activities to do and what things not to do in order to maintain our level of fitness and health. JestGreen supports and assists us in our endeavor to lead salubrious and wholesome lifestyles and has made this a key point in the cuisine, technology and the overall atmosphere we offer our users.

Environmental Friendliness

We understand the importance of recycling materials such as paper, plastic, metal and food; we know how to reuse materials; we know how to conserve water and not waste electricity. We do this in our daily lives we do this at work and we assist JestGreen in its endeavor to lessen its impact on the environment by helping with all of their green initiatives.
